The above Census was conducted on the evening of 3rd April 1881. The population of Minster district at that time was a little over 2050 and was inclusive of the Union workhouse population. The date of birth has been calculated from the given ages and so is reliant on honesty!

Farming and agriculture were the core industries, from large farms to small-holdings and (24) market gardens. Other 'support' occupations such as John Lodder a 39 year old saddle harness maker and George Foord a 31 year old traction engine driver are some of the more interesting entries. A multitude of bakers, butchers, tailors, milers and merchants existed to satisfy local demand.

You would hardly have to leave the village, though if you did, more likely than not you would meet William Hunt the Stationmaster. However if your choice of transport was by cart you would probably know James Page, a Wheelwright carpenter down Monkton Rd or Harry Young the Blacksmith in Station Rd.

And finally...some of the more refreshing names in the Village were, John Filmer (Bell Inn), George Phillips (White Horse), Mary Wotten (New Inn) and Thomas Pilbeam (Prospect Inn).
